

Sample Question Bank – Washing Machine Operator

Q1. Before starting the washing process, the operator should ensure that the machine is:

- A. Fully loaded
- B. Empty, clean, and ready to use
- C. Switched off permanently
- D. Filled with chemicals only

Answer: B. Empty, clean, and ready to use

Q2. Garments should be checked to ensure they are free from:

- A. Labels and tags
- B. Creases, folds, and twists
- C. Buttons and zippers
- D. Color markings

Answer: B. Creases, folds, and twists

Q3. If objectionable defects are found on garments before washing, the operator should:

- A. Ignore the defects
- B. Wash the garments immediately
- C. Report the defects to the concerned personnel
- D. Remove the labels

Answer: C. Report the defects to the concerned personnel

Q4. Why are identifying code numbers or names marked on articles before washing?

- A. To increase fabric weight
- B. To identify garments during processing
- C. To improve color fastness
- D. To reduce washing time

Answer: B. To identify garments during processing

Q5. The washing machine should be kept clean:

- A. Only after unloading garments
- B. Only before loading garments
- C. Before loading, during operation, and after unloading
- D. Once a week

Answer: C. Before loading, during operation, and after unloading

Q6. Before beginning the washing process, machine controls should be checked to ensure they are:

- A. Locked
- B. Functioning properly
- C. Replaced daily
- D. Painted correctly

Answer: B. Functioning properly

Q7. Which utilities should be available for proper functioning of the washing machine?

- A. Diesel and petrol
- B. Water, air, and steam
- C. Lubricants and grease only
- D. Packaging materials

Answer: B. Water, air, and steam

Q8. What is the purpose of checking garments before washing?

- A. To increase production speed only
- B. To identify defects and prevent quality issues
- C. To change garment sizes
- D. To reduce machine capacity

Answer: B. To identify defects and prevent quality issues

Q9. Which activity is part of preparation for the washing process?

- A. Packing garments in cartons
- B. Marking articles with identification codes
- C. Stitching garment panels
- D. Ironing finished garments

Answer: B. Marking articles with identification codes

Q10. Which sequence best represents the washing preparation process?

- A. Wash garments → Check controls → Clean machine
- B. Check machine cleanliness → Remove garment folds → Inspect defects → Mark articles → Check controls → Ensure utilities availability
- C. Mark garments → Wash garments → Dry garments
- D. Ensure utilities → Dispatch garments → Check defects

Answer: B. Check machine cleanliness → Remove garment folds → Inspect defects → Mark articles → Check controls → Ensure utilities availability