The Year 2019 For The Skilling In Apparel Sector

The Skilling ecosystem is completing yet another year filled with ups and downs, success and failures and gains and losses. We started this journey mainly in 2014 onwards and have been able to reach a milestone.

The Apparel, Made-Ups and Home Furnishing Sector Skill Council was founded in Dec, 2013 and started fully operating in May, 2014. Till the end of 2014 we were able to prepare and get approved 45 Job roles in the Apparel industry, right from the shop floor level till the elite Fashion Designers and covering the entire Apparel sector. The first year was not that promising, whereby we were able to merely prepare ourselves for the marathon task of starting 'Skill India' mission of the Hon'ble Prime Minister. The start, though small, was very solid, whereby all the Job roles of the Apparel sector were not only scientifically mapped but the standards of those Job roles were prepared after marathon discussions, seminars, workshops and personal meetings with the industry players. The best part in such preparation was that while the standards were prepared, actual Shop floor workers and concerned professionals who were actually working in the industry were deeply consulted in the workshops and seminars and their practical knowledge was obtained, in addition to the expert comments of the Industry players and experts. Post long brainstorming sessions, we were able to create standards of those 45 Job roles on which skilling in Apparel sector started.

Then started the preparation of other protocols for Trainings, assessments, Trainings of Trainer and Trainings of Assessor. The AMH SSC Quality and Standards team relentlessly worked on these protocols along with other teams of the Council and finalized all these protocols. The best part is that unknowingly, we have created something which is not only good but also competes with the similar standards created in most of the developed economies. This fact came to light when the Indian Skilling ecosystem worked with British counterparts in 2016 for creation of 'Transnational standards' in the various sectors. Our standards were observed to be at par, if not better, than the British standards.

We, then started to skill the unemployed youth across the country and we are extremely happy to skill app 8 lac persons in Apparel sector and another 5.25 lac persons are being skilled in the current financial year 2019-20. By the end of FY'20 the total number of persons being skilled in Apparel sector would touch approx. 15 lac. Our Operations team relentlessly worked to make this happen in the past 4 years. We also feel happy to note that more than 4500 Trainers and 2500 Assessors have been formally certified in the Apparel sector. Resultant ought to have produced results. The NSDC data showed that from 2016 to 2019 whatever skilling activities happened, 21% of the employment generated was in the Apparel sector. In Self-employment also Apparel sector topped.

The team AMH SSC scored yet another milestone in attracting great CSR funding from the various Corporates and Public Sector Undertakings. With the continuous guidance received from the past and present leadership, we look forward to take the skilling activities in Apparel sector to the next level in the coming years.

Branded apparel makers post higher Q2 profit on weaker raw material price

Despite rural economic distress, branded apparel makers posted higher profits in the September quarter, due to reduced raw material prices and better cost management through closure of unprofitable points of sale (PoS).KewalKiran Clothing (KKCL) had reported 10 per cent revenue growth, a positive sign in revival of demand for branded apparel. Its leading 'Killer' jean brand saw sales rise 24.2 per cent from a year before; those of its other brand, Easies by Killer, grew 11.4 per cent.

"These two brands cumulatively contributed about 70 per cent to the overall sales during the quarter. The brands also sustained their market share, led by the company's focus on branding activities like organising various autumn large scale winter bookings at a mega event organised in Goa and via other promotional activities," Kewalchand P. Jain, Chairman. Many branded apparel players started with discounts and other promotional offers ahead of the Dussehra and Diwali consumer demand.
